Fire on Main Street.

About 8 o'clock on Monday evening fire was discovered in the shoe shop of "But" Fisher at Second street and Main. An alarm was sent in, and the volunteers promptly responded.

A hose from the big chemical engine was played on the back of the building, where the blaze had broken thru. A window at the back was smashed, to allow a stream to play on the blaze inside. So soon as this was done, an explosion occurred which raised the roof about twelve inches and blew the whole store front out onto the pavement. Several persons who happened to be on the sidewalk at the time were thrown down by the concussion, one young light weight being heaved about ten feet, into the mud. None were seriously injured.

This is Fire Prevention Week, and it had been the intention of the Fire Committee to ring an alarm some afternoon, to test the efficiency of the brigade.

LOCAL NEWS.

Inspector J. A. Fife gave the local Public school an inspection on Friday.

Elmer Anderson has gone to Edson, where the curling fans are building a five-sheet rink.

While walking thru his kitchen on Thursday last, Mr. Fred Willis inadvertently stepped into the cellar opening, precipitating him to the basement. He suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. After receiving medical attention here, he was taken to the Moberg hospital. He is in the same room where Mr. Joe Doern is convalescing.

Mr. Joe Habiuk, Wabamun, was a business visitor in Stony on Monday.

The members of the Walther League held a social meeting on Sunday evening in St. Matthew's Schoolhouse No. 2, with a good attendance present.

The new power house on lower Main street is nearing completion. A well is being drilled to supply water for the use of the coolers on the oil-larries. The new engine has been installed, and it is expected electric current will be supplied by the new plant in a very short time.

There will be R. C. services in the town hall Sunday morning next at 9.

Mentally Defective.

Some little excitement was caused at Carvel station Saturday afternoon last, when John Marsich, a member of the section gang there, threw a fit and began acting in a strange manner, shortly after quitting work for the day. His performance scared the natives thereabouts at the time.

All efforts to quiet him proved unavailing, and some thought him insane. Const. Smith was phoned for, and on his arrival in Carvel took John in charge and brought him to Stony.

Sunday morning about 3 o'clock he gave another demonstration at the place in Stony he was staying for the night. On Sunday he was taken to Edmonton, for examination as to his sanity. John came from Czechoslovakia about two years ago.

Higher Education In Canada

During the month of October two notable celebrations have occurred in Canada—the centenary of the University of Toronto, the original charter of which was granted by King George IV. in 1827, and the golden jubilee of the University of Manitoba. Needless to say, both anniversaries were marked by interesting exercises and attended by many distinguished men and women. Well deserved tributes to the part played by these institutions of higher learning in the religious, political, scientific and economic life of Canada were voted. Indeed, the influence of the older of these two great institutions has been felt throughout the United States as well as Canada.

Considering the population of Canada, and the number, size, and financial strength of Canadian universities, it is not only surprising, but a distinct tribute to these bodies that they occupy such a relatively high place among the universities of the world. All of Canada's universities are still young in years, but their standards are high and their achievements noteworthy. Their graduates are to be found all over the globe doing some of the best of the world's work.

For example, it is revealed by a recent survey of medical colleges in North America, made by Rockefeller Foundation that the Medical College of the University of Toronto ranks first, with Harvard University second, John Hopkins University, Baltimore, third, and McGill, Montreal, fourth, a truly remarkable showing for Canada. Instead of Canadians having to go abroad in order to obtain the best in University training, the reverse is true, and hundreds of United States students are annually enrolled in Canadian institutions. Even from the British Isles come students to take the engineering courses at McGill, and to pursue their medical studies in Canada.

It was from the medical college of Toronto University that Dr. F. G. Banting gave his wonderful discovery of insulin to the world, while many of the great engineering feats in Canada during the last fifty years, and in other parts of the world as well, are due to the genius of Canadian University trained engineers.

From the earliest days, education has been given the very forefront in every Canadian programme. It has dominated the thought and inspired the policies of the Canadian people. The result is seen in the character of the people, in the strength of our public institutions, and in the growing importance of Canada in world affairs.

The younger universities of these Western Provinces are worthily upholding the traditions and standards of the older institutions and will play an equally important part in the upbuilding of the West and in the contributions they will make to the life of the Dominion. Particularly in their research, survey, and extension departments in work of the most vital interest to this country being performed. The strides being made in the development of agriculture along scientific lines, and in overcoming plant pests, such as rust, will not only mean untold millions to the farmers of the West, but will result in a general raising of the standard of living, of cultural equipment and of the level of prosperity throughout Canada.

In one of the three prairie provinces at the present time, one in every four of the population is attending school. In a small Western city of approximately 40,000 population there is at present enrolment in public and separate schools, high schools, colleges, and other institutions of learning no less than 10,000 students. The writer has not the data, but no doubt the same statement can be made of other Provinces and cities in the West. The heaviest single item of taxation borne by the people is for education, but it is borne gladly and without complaining. In fact, it is a matter of pride and the boast of the West.

No other subject, no other department of the Government, is watched more closely than education. It is well that this should be so, because in the intelligence, the training, the character of the younger generation lies the hope, the future of this great country. Here is to be found the basic foundation of all that is fine and worthwhile in life, and upon such foundation rests the strength and greatness of any people or nation.

Latest Radio Invention

System of Tuning Receivers Without Touching the Dial

An electric device contained in a little box which can be carried about the house or placed on the arm of a chair has been invented for the purpose of tuning a radio set no matter whether it be in the living room, attic or cellar. There are no intervening wires or mechanical connections between the receiving set and the control box. The inventors are, Howard Washington, formerly of the United States Navy and Wilson Aull, Jr.

The receiver can be controlled from any spot convenient to the operator without manipulation of the tuning dial of the receiver proper. It is pointed out by the inventors that the main set can thus be installed in an out-of-the-way place and forgotten until a tune replacement or a maintenance adjustment must be effected.

Had Own Airplane

Princess Lowenstein-Worthheim, the passenger in the missing St. Raphael, took up flying many years ago, and during the war owned an aeroplane of the war—a fact which sometimes made the authorities look at her askance, for she had an Austrian name, even though she acquired it only by marriage, which terminated in the death of her husband in 1899. The Princess was for many years, despite her youthful appearance.

ELIJAH IN NABOTH'S VINEYARD

Golden Text: "Be sure your sin will find you out."—Numbers 22:35.
Lesson: 1 Kings 21.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 94, 17-23.

Explanations and Comments

I. A Covetous and Pettish King, verses 1-4.—Near Ahab's place in Jerusalem was a vineyard which the king coveted. He tried to buy it, but Naboth, its owner, would not part with his inheritance. See the law in Lev. 25:28. The petulant king, unexpectedly thwarted in his wish, like a spoiled child entered his palace, threw himself on his couch and refused to eat.

What an example of the state of mind of one who gives way to selfish desires! What a small matter for a king to get into a state about! And on what small matters men and women often set their hearts and become miserable because they are unattainable!

II. A Masterful and Wicked Queen, verses 5-10.—Jezebel inquired the cause of Ahab's displeasure, and learned that Naboth refused to sell or exchange his vineyard, which Ahab wished for an herb garden. Jezebel then wrote letters, which she carried to the king, and in them she proclaimed a fast which would give a pretext for a public assembly, set Naboth in a prominent place, have ready two witnesses to swear that they heard Naboth curse God and the king, and then have him carried without the city and stoned to death.

How potent a woman's influence is for good or ill! But an evil woman will more quickly debase her husband than a noble woman will uplift him."—J. B. Meyer.

If you have finally decided to remain one of the twenty-five million human beings who Dr. Robert Bell, the eminent British medical authority, has solemnly assured the world, are now destined to die from the deadly scourge of Cancer, which is an unconsciously self-inflicted blood disease caused by your present diet.

Cancer is neither hereditary, contagious nor infectious, and the proof it is caused by civilization's acid-greasing diet lies in the fact that the disease is unknown among uncivilized races which live upon Nature's own abundant provision. The modern diet of the civilized world robs its consumers of all, or almost all the health-preserving potassium and other organic salts which the Creator has placed in the food of man and beast. Man is the only created being on earth who deliberately destroys his food values by refinement or cookery destruction. And when, after years of slow but sure potassium starvation, the digestive organs can no longer function properly, the body cells, lacking their essential nourishment, finally break down and exhibit cancerous, fibroid or other abnormal growths—frequently after ulceration of stomach or duodenum—and unless the potassium deficiency is remedied, diet reformed and complete elimination of waste matter assured, suffering, disease and premature death that no surgical operation, radium or X-ray treatments can do other than hasten, must result.

Thousands of men and women have repaired and others are now repairing the damage inflicted upon their bodies by years of wrong diet. These have won or are winning back their priceless health and efficiency by restoring their potassium deficiency. Why wait until you are cancer-stricken before insuring your immunity from the deadliest known disease? If you value health and efficiency and wish to, at home, repair past errors which if continued, mean an early grave, a valuable book will be freely mailed you on application to Charles Walter, 61 Brunswick Avenue, Toronto, 4, Canada.

NO BETTER MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Is What Thousands Of Mothers Say Of Baby's Own Tablets

A medicine for the baby or growing child—one that the mother can feel assured is absolutely safe as well as efficient—is found in Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are praised by thousands of mothers throughout the country. These mothers have found by actual experience that there is no other medicine for little ones to equal them. Once a mother has used them for her children she will use nothing else concerning them. Mrs. Charles Hutt, Tanecock Island, N.S., writes: "I have ten children, the baby being just six months old. I have used Baby's Own Tablets for them for the past 20 years and can truthfully say that I know of no better medicine for little ones. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all other mothers to do so." Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be mailed upon receipt of order, 25 cents per box, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Property Losses Due To Fire Cost The People Of Canada The Sum of $200 Per Minute

Forest fires have taken a terrible toll from the value of Canada's natural resources, but they are after all but one phase of the terrible scourge of fire. According to the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa, Canadians pay over one hundred million dollars per year in property losses due to fire, in the maintenance of fire-fighting organizations and in insurance premiums in excess of losses paid. This is a staggering sum. Capitalized, it represents a debt on the Canadian public of over two billion dollars the income from which is required to meet these charges, at the rate of $200 per minute—a sum almost equal to the national debt or to the country's entire railway investment. This takes no account of unemployment created and most terrible of all, lives lost.

Anything that will arouse public interest in the threatened danger, that will stimulate public concern in organizing to combat this plague of carelessness—since 80 per cent of fires are caused by inexcusable ignorance or neglect—should be given whole hearted support by every public spirited citizen. A royal proclamation which the week of October 9th to 15th the official Fire Prevention Week in Canada provides a definite incentive for some excellent preventive and educational work. The royal proclamation has the following suggestions to offer:

1. All dwellings and their surroundings be carefully inspected by their occupants and all conditions likely to cause or promote the spread of fires removed.
2. All public buildings, stores, warehouses and factories be inspected and cleaned of rubbish in order to reduce fire hazards and maintain health and safety.
3. All hotels, theatres, asylums, hospitals and other institutional buildings be inspected and provisions made for all changes necessary to protect the occupants from danger in the event of fire.
4. Fire drills be held for the children in all schools, for the inmates of all institutions and for the employees in all large stores and factories in order that a greater degree of safety may be ensured by acquainting the occupants with the best and most expeditious mode of exit in time of danger.
5. Special instruction on the subject of fire prevention be given by the teachers and by municipal officials in the schools and that such appropriate literature as may be made available be distributed to the pupils.
6. Boy scout leaders give instruction to the troops under their control as to the best means of co-operation with municipal fire departments in the prevention and extinguishment of fires and especially as to the desirability of qualifying for the Fireman's badge.
7. All legislation and regulations enacted or issued by Dominion, provincial or municipal authorities dealing with fire prevention be given publicity by the municipal officials and that by public meetings or otherwise as may to them seem most fit, they endeavour to impress upon the citizens the national importance of safeguarding life and property from loss by fire.

Celebrate Radium Wedding
Everybody has heard or read of silver, golden, and diamond weddings. A new expression has been coined by the French to designate the seventieth anniversary of a marriage. This is known as the Radium Wedding, and an old couple, Monsieur and Madame Clerland, who were both born in 1836 in a small town in Clermont, have just celebrated that important event.

A Real Masterpiece
Recently there was a distinct earthquake shock which disturbed a small Western city and rocked the municipal building so that the councilmen, then in session, left without the usual ceremony. The clerk, a man of rules and regulations, was hard put to give his minutes the proper official tone. Finally he evolved this masterpiece: "On motion of the city hall, the council adjourned."

British Engineers Are Awake

More Than Match Other Nations In Mechanical Skill

While the long distance honors of the air have this summer mainly orientated in the direction of the U.S. airmen there are other honors which that country, with its more or less famed reputation for speed in everything, would be glad to possess in perpetuity. Instead, they have fallen to Great Britain.

A few months ago Major Seagrave, a son of British parents, drove a British car at a speed of 203 miles an hour.

A British-built seaplane won the Schneider cup with an average speed of 231 miles an hour. Both these records are a long way ahead of anything achieved by any other nation.

The globe is sometimes made in the "Old Country" is a bit "slow" in many ways. These marks, however, show that British engineers are fully awake, and that Britain still has brains and mechanical skill more than a match for the rest of the world.

Incidentally, it may be observed that the British machine which won the Schneider cup traveled at a speed of 258.76 miles an hour for some parts of the distance. Bearing in mind that the machine was a seaplane, designed for landing on water when necessary, the result of this race strongly supports the contention that only seaplanes should be permitted to essay Atlantic flights.

At the average speed of the British seaplane, it could have crossed the Atlantic in something less than half the time Lindbergh took to fly from New York to Paris.

Possibilities Of Sheep Farming

Room In British Columbia For Many Thousands More

There is room for two million sheep in British Columbia and at present there are around 100,000 only in the Province. Even that small total is double what the sheep total was two years ago. At Duncan, Vancouver Island, where the first sheep fair in the province was held recently, attention was drawn to the possibilities of sheep farming. T. P. Mackenzie, grazing commissioner, said logged-off lands could maintain many sheep and that there were 60,000 acres of such lands burned over last year in British Columbia, half of which were adjacent to Vancouver Island. He said the "weed" which has failed to yield nectar this season and thus halted the honey crop, is good feed for sheep.

Abyssinian Sand Terriers Create Sensation At London Show

Two dogs with webbed feet and hairless bodies that had travelled to England in a crate of snakes newly arrived from Africa were the sensation of the $500,000 Kennel Club show at Crystal Palace, London, Eng. C. who won second prize in the foreign dogs section with them, explained that they had jumped out of a crate in which he had received a consignment of pythons, the snakes being too torpid to eat them. He discovered later that they were Abyssinian Sand Terriers, whose webbed feet enable them to "swim" in the sand of the Abyssinian Desert. But they look more like giant rats.

Estimated That 70 Per Cent. Of New Arrivals In Canada Are Engaging In Agriculture

Has Strange Hobby

Toledo Man Fashions Life Size Biblical Figures From Concrete

Laboring with trowel and mortar for nearly a decade, Cassius M. Hettinger, Toledo real estate dealer, has surrounded his home with life size figures portraying Bible lore. He fashions them of concrete and covers them with gleaming shells.

He is engaged now in building a scene of the Last Supper and estimates it will require several years to mold the twelve disciples and the Master seated around the table.

A deeply religious man, Hettinger declares he received a vision twelve years ago which bade him undertake the work of creating Bible scenes. Hundreds of tourists annually visit his home on the outskirts of Toledo. He says he has refused many offers to sell the collection of figures.

He travelled for two years from coast to coast, seeking a particular shade and size of shell, and finally located the kind he wanted on the beach of Lake Erie several miles from his home.

A life size camel, being led to water by Zachariah, the tax collector, was the last effigy constructed by him. It required six months work.

Daniel in the lion's den and Jacob's well, with Rebecca's pitcher beside it, are other Biblical scenes he has represented.

Almost every inch of the walls of the inside of his home is covered with canvases he has painted in extended trips over the country. At times, he says, he works as long as three days and nights without stopping to sleep. Considered wealthy, Hettinger forsakes his business for months at a time while engaged in erecting the Biblical scenes.

A tailor-made girl is all right, but most men prefer the ready maid.

In a study of immigration to Canada for the first six months of 1927, just issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway, the total of immigrants is given as 107,290, as compared with 70,253 in 1926, an increase of 21,137, or 52 per cent. for the 1927 period. British immigration increased from 27,819 to 34,474, or by 23 per cent.; that from the United States from 10,037 to 11,534, or by nearly 15 per cent.; and that from other countries from 32,367 to 61,382, or by nearly 90 per cent. Analysis of immigration to the Dominion for the first three months of the present fiscal year, from March to June, reveals the English as making the greatest individual contribution to Canadian population in the period, followed by the Scotch, citizens of the United States, Ruthenian, German, Irish, Polish, Magyar, Slovak, Norwegian, and Finnish. The States of the Union to send the greatest numbers to the Dominion were Michigan, New York, Washington, Minnesota, California, and Massachusetts.

"The value of present-day immigration to the survey," is to be gathered from the fact that the new arrivals in the period nearly 70 per cent. went into the agricultural industry either by way of the employment or actual ownership. This is reflected in greater land sales in rising figures of homestead entries. Filings on homestead lands in the Western Provinces in the first six months of 1927 totalled 3,669 as compared with 2,834 for the period of 1926, this accounting for the occupation of approximately half a million acres of virgin land. Of the 1927 filings, 1,386 were in Saskatchewan, 1,293 in Manitoba, 263 in Alberta, and 38 in British Columbia.

"Foremost in accomplishment among the land settlement agencies has been the Canada Colonization Association, which in the first six months of 1927 was responsible for placing 401 families on 27,344 acres of land in Western Canada. Rapidly the work of this agency has increased and the scope of its activities broadened upon successful achievement. Confined in operation in the first place to the Prairie Provinces, where its work is still growing in importance, it has entered into the colonization field in British Columbia with gratifying results.

Royal Botanic Gardens Possesses Old Plant

Scientists Calculate It Is At Least Thousand Years Old

The Royal Botanic Gardens, Regent's Park, London, possesses a plant that was old at the time of the Norman Conquest.

A native of South Africa, where it is commonly called "Kaffir bread," it is known to botanists by the formidable title of Neopharosolites Aitensteini.

By comparing the number of the leaf scars on the trunk with the number of fronds produced annually, scientists have calculated that it is at least 1,000 years old, and may be much older.

It gets practically no nourishment from outside, but carries within itself a supply of both food and water, and it is due to the fact of these being used by the Kaffirs in times of scarcity that the plant owes its popular name.

Not Much Differences

He was an elder of his kirk in a small Scottish town, and had consulted a specialist about his health. Told that he had a floating kidney he was much disturbed, for the complaint had all the terror of mystery.

He went to the minister of his church with a request that the prayers of the congregation might be of fered.

"I don't know," said the minister. "I'm afraid that at the mention of a floating kidney the congregation might laugh."

"I see nothing to laugh at," replied the sufferer. "It was only last Sabbath that you prayed for loose liver."

Reviving Canadian Musical Wealth

(1) Lt.-Gov. Randolph Bruce, of B.C., who attended the Festival. (2) A step in the Highland Fling. (3) Tossing the caber, one of the athletic events. (4) Portenage Indians grouped on the grounds of the Banff Springs Hotel. (5) Ralph, Ontario, who presided at the opening service in the Sea Deer Canyons.

According to general comment throughout the country, the second decisive step towards reviving and preserving the wealth of music, indigenous of this country, has been achieved with the conclusion of the Highland Gathering and Festival of Scottish Music held at the Banff Springs Hotel, Banff, Alberta, during the first week of September. Not only in Canada but in the United States and Great Britain, have newspapers and current magazines commented most favorably upon this musical event, the first venture along these lines being in May when the Canadian Polka and Handcraft Festival was held at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City.

Proof of the interest taken in them across the water was given recently when the Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Premier of Great Britain, commented upon the Polka Festival held at Quebec. This event was one of the first of public interest touched upon by the Premier after his arrival in Canada. Mr. Baldwin observed with pleasure the success of the Festival and stated that events of that kind were invaluable in keeping alive the old-time customs, songs and handicrafts which, he was sorry to observe, were wont to be forgotten in the rush and bustle of the present day.

The Festivals at Quebec and Banff have been staged through the generosity of R. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Organizing work in connection with them has been of pioneer nature as these festivals are the first of their kind to have been staged in Canada. This work was undertaken by J. Murray Gibbon, general publicity agent of the Canadian Pacific whose personal interest largely accounted for their success. Many of the old folk songs which were featured at the Canadian Polka Festival being translated by him.

Scots in Canada played a memorable part in the development of the country, their names having prominence in many engineering, fur-trading and exploration enterprises—such men as Fraser, Macdonald and Thompson, and many others of the past generations who penetrated the mountains of the West. It was here in the same mountains, unrivaled in the world for beauty, that the Scottish Festival was held and for which hundreds gathered from all parts of the country to attend.

The gathering was of a national character, as each of the seventeen

Scottish regiments in Canada had pipers present to compete for the highest honors. The artists themselves were in most cases Scots of no mean artistry. The festival of music was supplemented by a full program of Scottish games and tests of prowess, which proved one of the outstanding features of the three-day gathering.

While many colorful events have taken place at this famous mountain resort the Scottish Festival was perhaps the most picturesque, for in addition to the brilliant plaids of the Highlanders, were to be seen the traditional gay dresses of the Indians who gathered from the Blood and Stony Reserves to witness the events. They watched with keen interest the whirling dance steps of the Scots and were awed by the skill of the pipe. In turn they demonstrated their old-time ceremonial songs and dances described by the early Scottish explorers, such as Sir Alexander Mackenzie and Alexander Henry.

"Shut up, Rose—they'll hear us!"
"Hear nothing?" He'd dead—dead—the best man God's ever sent down on—murder—murder—murder!" Rose swung her hands dramatically in imitation of Mrs. Wymuth, while the girls choked with laughter. Then she cackled round the room, singing "I'm a little wrinkled prune. I am not stewed yet but will be soon."

Minnie held her letter rapturously in her hands. She could not open it before the girls. Wailing her chance she stooped out into the long, uncarpeted hall, where she ran along in her bare feet until she reached the linen closet. There she found the switch and turned on the light, trembling with excitement.

A great cry broke from Minnie's lips as she read—a cry of joy. Her mother loved her still, loved and believed in her and would stand by her to the end. There was a dollar bill in the letter, and a whole row of kisses, and many a word of loving comfort. Minnie ran back to get her letter, who was showing the girls what had happened. Her English had deteriorated, but she shook Rose Lamb to show what had provoked her assault, and then showed with a menacing gesture how her hand had dealt the blow. The girls were deliciously thrilled and shivered with delight.

The sight of Minnie's radiant face recalled Helmi, and she followed her down the hall, where Minnie threw her arms around her, sobbing with joy.

"It's all right, Helmi! My mother knows. She is sorry but says I must not worry now. And it ends, 'God bless my poor little girl!'"

"That is good, words," said Helmi gravely. "And I'm glad I got it for you. Will you read my letter?"

Helmi's letters were from the girls of the Club and one from Miss Rodgers. Lucy Powers wrote: "Dear Helmi!—We are at our supper to-night and are thinking of you. We hope you are well and happy. We have scalloped potatoes and salad, and rice pudding with a sea-bon on top that helps none. Mildred has a bean, but she won't tell who he is, and maybe she don't know, but anyway, we are teasing her, and Miss Rodgers says for you to read page eleven in the Blue and Gold Book, and you'll see what the little verse is we are hearing today—it's the 'Upward Road', and you can just think you are with us. Miss Rodgers will write, and we want a letter from you to read at our meeting. We have them from all absent members. Lily is at the Coast and Ella is in California still, and Maud has gone to school. Miss Rodgers says you'll be locked in at night, for she knows Miss de Forest, who used to teach there. We often go riding now in the car, and I guess that is all. We all wish you were back.

"Your Loving Friend, Lucy."

Helmi understood it when it had been read over again, and in her heart there was a joy of knowing that though she was in prison, someone was thinking of her and coming to wish she was again at liberty. Her gang were loyal to her!

Then came Miss Rodgers' letter, smelling daintily of lavender:—

"My Dear Helmi!—Tonight we are meeting in the church, and we are all thinking of you, and when we knelt in our first prayer we had a few minutes when we all just prayed for you, and the girls said, 'Keep Helmi from evil—keep Helmi English—let her learn English fast—and let her help someone every day—and keep hatred out of her heart.' I wrote them down so I could tell you, and then we prayed together. 'Dear Lord, do not let Helmi ever forget that she is dear to Thee.' We know, dear Helmi, that you will always be pure and brave, and God will not fail you. Work hard at your English, and do not fret if your surroundings are not cheerful. Make the best of them, remember the way to be happy is to help someone else. I am enclosing some stamps and paper. Write to me, or get some of the girls to write. Miss de Forest is living with me now, and she too wants to hear from you."

"Ever lovingly your friend,
Edna Rodgers."

Helmi's eyes were shining when the letters were read. Miss Rodgers, Miss de Forest; her two friends! She was not alone, not a prisoner, not in disgrace—her friends loved her. Surely it could not have been written to steal the keys—she would write to Miss Rodgers and ask her. Maybe the Blue and Gold Book could tell. She and Minnie with her arms entwined were sitting on a pile of blankets. Helmi ran back to her little red valise to get the oracle. Minnie turned to the page Lucy had mentioned and read the memory verse:

"I will follow the upward road today, I will keep my face to the light; I will think high thoughts as I go my way I will do what I know is right; I will look for the flowers by the side of the road.

I will laugh and love and be strong; I will try to lighten another's load This day as I fare along."

Minnie explained it to her. "See, Helmi, you've done all these. You lightened my load when you got my letter for me, ain't that so?"

Helmi nodded; that part was all right, but she was worried about Mr. Wymuth. Would page eleven throw any light on that? Would the Blue and Gold Book sustain her in knocking down the Superintendent of the Girls' Friendly Home—that was the question.

Minnie searched the book again, going over each line. "No, it wasn't exactly 'looking for flowers by the side of the road'—but look here!

"I will laugh, and love and be strong."

"Helmi," cried Minnie, "it's here! You were wrong when you hit him—that covers it, Helmi, ain't you glad?" Helmi took the book and followed the line with her finger. "I sure was strong," she said.

The house was silent—so still it seemed as if its heart had stopped beating. Helmi's mind was not altogether at rest over what she had done, alternating between exaltation that the letters from her friends had brought her, the happiness that had come to poor little troubled Minnie, the assurance of the Blue Book, and a deep sorrow for what she had done. Was it a very terrible thing? she wondered. She recalled the sudden rage that ran like fire through her veins when Mr. Wymuth had shaken her. Should she have just borne it and made no resistance? She would get Minnie to write all of Miss Rodgers and Miss de Forest. They would know. When she shut her eyes she could see the blood splashing on Mr. Wymuth's pale cheek, and hear again Mrs. Wymuth's queer wailing, and the glass crashing and splintering. She was sorry for that, and would write to Miss Able about breaking the glass. Miss Able would pay the damages.

"The glass should be gathered up—she was sharp to wait on and make quick cuts in her hand slipped stealthily from her bed. The girls were all sleeping now. Noiselessly she went downstairs and into the dining room, closing the door before she switched on the light. The chair which Mr. Wymuth had fallen against still lay on its side. Helmi lifted it up and set the room to rights. Then she bent to pick up the pieces of glass, very careful to make no noise. At the blood-stains on the floor she shuddered—it was surely a dreadful thing to shed blood; she hoped Mr. Wymuth was not badly hurt.

Try as she would, Helmi could not make herself feel very sorry. The exquisite thrill of power which she felt when she saw him thrown from her was still like a fire—it was glorious! Helmi could have written a paean of elation! "Nowadays my head lifted up above my enemies—oh, they are as chaff that the wind driveth away." "Thou representest a city on a hill." She wanted to sing; to march to dance. Suppose they did punish her, beat her, shut her in a dark room on bread and water like they had already done to Rose Lamb, she could bear it. She had the memory of this glorious victory, the joy of stealing the keys—and beat of all, her letters.

Helmi turned the light out when her work was done, but lingered at the window to watch the city below with its myriads of twinkling lights, and the stars, and the moon, and the fantastic figures as she watched them. She loved the city with its mellow hum of tramping feet, its purring autos and clanging, rattling train whistles, that seemed to rise in ever widening circles as she looked down. She listened to the murmur that rose and fell, swelled and lessened, something coming—coming—louder—louder—bursting—passing—fading—gone. The sleepless, restless, shifting city! She loved it; she was part of it. Away over there, where the reflection of his lights painted the sky, she had friends. There were people who thought of her and would be glad to see her. Helmi loved it; it was her city!

Valuable Diamond Ring Found in Hotel Safe After Fifteen Years
Searching an old safe in the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, before offering it at auction, Thomas Jenkins found among a number of old papers, a three-stone diamond ring that had been lost for more than 15 years. The ring will be sold and the proceeds will go to the McGraw and Winnett estates. Years ago the ring was taken as security for a debt from a guest of the hotel when he was leaving without funds to meet his account. Shortly afterwards the old safe was abandoned, and when the ring was searched for later it could not be found. The ring has three high-grade diamonds, each weighing more than a carat, and at present prices has a value of about $950. It is estimated.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

A Welland Lady Tells Of the Value Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills In Her Home
"I have many reasons for praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. George L. Swick, R.R. No. 2, Welland, Ont. "My first experience with this medicine was in 1908, when, following an attack of scarlet fever, I was left in a badly run down condition. I was so weak that I could not get up. A border black and grim. Contrasted helpfully with gentle tint of pink and saffron, blond and berry tint. And mocked those threads of sun? That made the cup so bitter. To ravish royal eyes. 'Why leave this scowl of black?' one day I dared myself. The artist answered, 'Clay must tone the face. And by that test be tried.' Stretched from the furnace heat. Transfigured and complete. The dazzling gift comes crowned with aureole of light. Its black all changed to gold. So, like a dream. Heart said to heart that sighed. Grief may be joy at last. When life's fierce test has passed. The child of God is assured that all things work together for good. In this is plainly included the pledge that chastisements and afflictions shall eventually prove a blessing."

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Rheumatism, Indigestion, Neuralgia and other nervous troubles. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition, and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills from any drug store, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Preserving India's Sacred Trees

Huge Banyans Are Principal Attraction At Royal Botanical Garden
One of the attractions of the Royal Botanical Garden at Sibpur, India, is its huge banyan trees. One of the largest of these trees has had to undergo a surgical operation for fungus growths. The present age of the tree is about 153 years, but according to Dr. King, the superintendent, it is much older. The circumference of the trunk, in 1922, at a height of about 5½ feet, was about 51 feet, the crown about 1,000 feet, and the number of aerial roots about 601, which are actually rooted down in the ground. It is a pity that the main trunk was rotten and had to be cut down, leaving a wide gap at the centre. The dome-shaped outline of the tree from a distance presents a grand picture. The tree is religiously regarded by the Hindus, and gives shade to many weary visitors, especially during the hot months of May and June. The "bar" is called banyan as it used to give shelter to the merchants (Banyas or Bankis) during the old days, when there were no railways and other arrangements for transporting goods. Attempts are being made to keep this oldest tree of the Royal Botanic Garden alive by removing the infested branches, and by aerating the aerial roots and manuring. A few young plants have been planted to fill up the gap at the centre, and efforts will be made to graft the branches of the new plants to the older ones. The ground under the tree is being raised to keep off the floods during the rains and thus protecting the aerial roots from being waterlogged.

Made Of Good Stuff
A dollar watch which had been imbedded in solid concrete for 12 years was discovered by a workman employed on a bridge gang at Iola, Kansas. It was exposed when a block of concrete was broken in two and began ticking as soon as it was found.

Children's Colds

Best Treated Externally

That's why modern mothers prefer Vicks—it cannot upset delicate stomachs. Rubbed on throat and chest, it acts two ways at once:

- (1) Its healing vapors, released by the body heat, are inhaled direct to the nasal passages;
- (2) It "draws out" the soreness like an old-fashioned poultice.

CHOLERA, CRAMPS, PAINS IN THE STOMACH RELIEVED BY

Mrs. D. Leavitt, Rock Bay, N.B., writes: "Last summer my children were very ill with cholera and I severely from cramps and pains in their stomachs. I tried several remedies, but nothing seemed to do them any good. A friend of mine told me to try Dr. Fowler's Cherry-Strawberry Elixer. I got a bottle and gave them a few doses and they soon found relief. Now I will never be without it in the summer months."

Itching and Burning Severe. Cuticura Heals.

"I had pimples on my face for about six months. They were hard, large and red and scaled over. The itching and burning were so severe that I could not keep from scratching the eruptions, which became quite sore. My face looked so bad that I was ashamed. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a five-cent sample. The pains were in the right side and extended to the left and then down to the knees. It seemed as if the body was heavy and upside down. It is for these troubles I took the Vegetable Compound. I saw about it in a paper and one woman prevailed on me to take it. It has helped me in every way, the pains are less, and I have more appetite. It is a pleasure to recommend Lydia E. The W. L. Conference.

The attendance was only fair at the joint conference at Wintburn, last week, of the W. L.'s of the constituencies of Stony Plain, Edmonton, Victoria and Sturgeon, which was presided over by Mrs. Woods. Mrs. Rogers, of Fort Saskatchewan, District Director, and Mrs. Gates of Stony Plain, former Convenor of District 2, were present.

Reports from the various Locals showed that social affairs had been held; money raised for charitable work; educational programs arranged; sewing courses held; and school equipment provided, etc.

In connection with Canadianization of the celebrating of national events Mrs. Gates expressed the desire that the spirit of July First, Confederation Day, be kept alive the year around. An "other speaker" hoped that the Institutes would agitate for some day every year to be set apart and devoted entirely to the spirit of patriotism, rather than to sports.

The program was pleasantly varied by musical numbers. In the morning Miss Dorothy Walton of Stony Plain, sang; and Mrs. W. R. Howey presided at the piano.

In the afternoon Mrs. F. W. Yeats sang and Mrs. James Smith played violin solos. Mrs. R. M. Oatway was accompanist. This trio was from Stony Plain.

Later Mrs. Yeats sang "By the Waters of Minnetonka" with violin obligato by Mrs. J. Smith and piano accompaniment by Mrs. Oatway.

Stony Plain and District.

Mr. Michael Zucht, our esteemed fellow townsman, made a business trip to the City on Monday.

An urgent phone call from Glory Hills Monday at six p. m. gave the news that Denyz Maisemko, a well known character, had run amuck with a shotgun and was threatening all and sundry. Constable Smith motored out to the scene and returned with the redoubtable Denyz. In Court the following morning he was fined $20 and costs or two months at the Fort.

A fire occurred last week in the garage of Joe Rabiuk, at Wabamun, when the building was destroyed, with the contents. Mayor Wight had one of his cars in the garage at the time of the fire, and this was a total loss, with no insurance.

The pictures shown at the Garden Valley school Friday evening were greatly appreciated by the large crowd which turned out to view these. They were shown under the auspices of the Dept. of Extension of the University.

Accident on the Baseline.

While Philip Schram, a resident of Spruce Grove district, was motoring to Edmonton about 8:30 Monday evening his car collided with a laden wagon while he was about two miles from the city.

The wagon was loaded with poles and was being driven by a farmer from Woodbend district, who was taking the poles to the City for sale.

Mr. Schram saw the wagon going along without a light and attempted to pass but the poles protruding from the wagon crashed into the radiator and smashed the auto badly. The collision swung the wagon, broke the reach and spilled the load. The horses ran away with the front wheels and gear, while their driver was dragged 350 yards, and when picked up had the reins twisted about his neck.

The injured man was rushed to the General Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a fractured skull, bone above temple fractured, and scalp torn off. He was unconscious when picked up and remained so for forty-eight hours.
